in SEASON

Choosing in-season flowers for your wedding day offers benefits that extend beyond aesthetics.

Selecting locally sourced, in-season flowers has so many benefits not only for your day but for the environment and the flowers themselves.

By choosing seasonal blooms, you can be sure they will be at their peak freshness and quality, looking their best throughout your wedding day. It also means they are more readily available, which can help reduce costs and minimize environmental impact.

Selecting locally sourced, in-season flowers supports regional flower farmers and promotes sustainability within the floral industry. Incorporating seasonal blooms adds a sense of authenticity and connection to the time and place of your wedding, enhancing the overall ambience and significance of your special day.

Under the guidance of our head florist, Jade McIntosh, this guide offers a curated glimpse into Australia's seasonal botanical delights, sourced from local growers and supporting flower farmers in the Hunter Valley and NSW.
